

Topic:

When a student chooses the future career, what factors should he consider?
Whose opinions should he consider?

In the past, people could easily find a satisfactory job. However, in recent years, it is difficult for them to find an ordinary job. What factors we should consider and whose suggestions we should consider has become a concern to many people.

In my opinion, when we seek a future career, the following factors should be taken into consideration. The first factor is that salary should not be too low. It is well known that most people are married and have children, so they need a stable income because of their family responsibility. Another factor is that we should have an objective understanding of our ability so that we can know which occupation is suitable for us. In other words, the job should not be so time-consuming that we have no time for family, friends and personal interests. Nor should it give us so much pressure that we cannot relax in our free time.

When we seek the future career, we should take into account the suggestions from people around us. In the first place, teachers possess rich knowledge and experience and therefore they can provide us with professional suggestions. As is known to all, they have a deep understanding about the area because they work in the field for many years. In the second place, parents are our first teacher and they know us best. As a consequence, they can offer us the most sincere and constructive suggestions.

In short, we should be sure that our choice is based on careful consideration from every angle. What is more, we should not hesitate to seek advice from the people around us.

Salary should not be too low.

Most people are married and have children, so they need a stable income because of their family responsibility.

We should have an objective understanding of our ability so that we can know which occupation is suitable for us.

The job should not be so time-consuming that we have no time for family, friends and personal interests.

Nor should it give us so much pressure that we cannot relax in our free time.

When we seek the future career, we should take into account the suggestions from people around us.

Teachers possess rich knowledge and experience and therefore they can provide us with professional suggestions.

They have a deep understanding about the area because they work in the field for many years.

Patents are our first teacher and they know us best.

As a consequence, they can offer us the most sincere and constructive suggestions.

We should be sure that our choice is based on careful consideration from every angle.

We should not hesitate to seek advice from the people around us.

2. Nowadays people travel more than before.

Why is this case?

What advantages can traveling bring travelers?

In the past, only rich people could often travel. However, in recent years, even ordinary people can have money and time to travel out and even travel abroad. What factors lead to this phenomenon and what advantages traveling can bring travels have become a concern to many people.

In my opinion, the following reasons should be taken into consideration. The first reason is that with the development of economy, people's income increases sharply. It is commonly accepted that people earn more money, so they can afford the expenses of traveling. Furthermore, the price of traveling has been falling because of the fierce competition among travel companies. Another reason is that with the development of technology, more and more machines replace man's labor. In other words, people enjoy more and more free time and they have more leisure time to go out to travel.

Those who believe that traveling brings travels a lot of advantages give their reasons as follows. In the first place, traveling is beneficial to people's psychological health because it is a wonderful stress reliever.

Researches reveal that fresh air and clear water have positive effects on our mental health and traveling makes our life pleasant and colorful. In the second place, it can broaden our horizons. It is well known that the knowledge which is acquired in other places helps us to become more open-minded. In addition, we can have opportunities to know different culture and make friends with people from different cultural backgrounds.

In short, there are many reasons why people travel more than before. What is more, traveling can bring travelers a lot of benefits.

With the development of economy, people's income increases sharply.

People earn more money, so they can afford the expenses of traveling.

Furthermore, the price of traveling has been falling because of the fierce competition among travel companies.

With the development of technology, more and more machines replace man's labor.

People enjoy more and more free time and they have more leisure time to go out to travel.

Traveling is beneficial to people's psychological health because it is a wonderful stress reliever.

Fresh air and clear water have positive effects on our mental health and traveling makes our life pleasant and colorful.

It can broaden our horizons.

The knowledge which is acquired in other places helps us to become more open-minded.

In addition, we can have opportunities to know different culture and make friends with people from different cultural backgrounds.

There are many reasons why people travel more than before.

Traveling can bring travelers a lot of benefits.