

Computers

When did you start to learn how to use computers?

My parents bought me a laptop on my 10th birthday. It was the time I started to learn how to use it. It was so much fun, not just playing-all-the-online-games, chatting-with-friends fun, but more like learning-stuff, knowing more about the world fun.

What is the importance of computers?

They make our life easier and more colorful. With computer, I can do pretty much everything: check and write e-mails, watch online films, chat online, go shopping online and search for online information ... whatever you name it. But without computer, I can't imagine a day!

Cell phones & Letters

Cell phones, letters or E-mails, which ones do you love most?

I love cell phones because they are portable, user-friendly and they enable me to call anyone anywhere anytime I want. They normally come with a lot of features: SMS, MMS, built-in camera, Wi-Fi, whatever you name it.

What are the differences between postcards and letters?

Generally speaking, a postcard is a card which is mailed without an envelope. The front is normally the beautiful scenery of a particular tourist attraction. People can write words on the back and mail it to others. A letter is mailed sealed, so it is kind of mysterious. It is all handwritten and of great sentimental value.

English

Do you love studying English? Explain why.

Yes, I fell in love with it from day one. It is such an eye opener that it enables me to know so many fascinating things about foreign countries, make lots of foreign friends and travel around the world, which broadens my horizons and enriches my experiences.

Do you have any good suggestions on how to learn English?

Unlike most of the Chinese who always cram English for English tests, I think the best way is to speak it loud and practice, preferably with foreigners. Not only can it practice your vocabulary, pronunciation and grammar, but also can make you become more confident.
